ALAAmericanLibraryAssociation

Dear Library Director:

Since 2006, the American Library Association, with support from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, has conducted a national study of public library public access funding and technology. This Public Library Funding & Technology Access Study builds on previous studies conducted since 1994.

We thank you for your participation in the past, and hope that you will continue to participate in these important surveys. Last year, the study sampled and received responses from all states and the District of Columbia, however, the survey did not receive enough responses from four states for analysis purposes. Our goal for this year is full participation by all 50 states, which will provide the greatest impact for advocacy efforts at the local, state, and national levels.

Data from the study will help your library:

- Identify the impacts of your library's public computer and Internet access on the community;
- Benchmark your library's public access technologies and communicate progress and challenges to your funders; and
- Support efforts to inform and educate stakeholders policymakers, foundations, elected officials, trustees, and the media about the value of libraries and issues related to sustaining public library technology services.

Recent study data has been cited in hundreds of media outlets including USA Today, the Washington Post, the Christian Science Monitor, and Huffington Post. Data has been used in Congressional and state-level testimony, as well as in comments to agencies like the Federal Communications Commission.

The study produces a range of advocacy tools such as PR templates, issue briefs, handouts, mashups, and more from the data you provide. Produced collaboratively by the ALA and the Information Policy & Access Center at the University of Maryland, these tools can be accessed via http://www.ala.org/plinternetfunding. Again, we greatly appreciate your participation and look forward to sharing the results of the survey and additional research beginning in 2012.

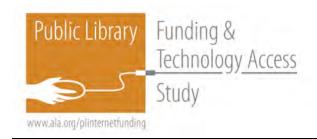

PLEASE COMPLETE THE SURVEY(S) by November 11, 2011.

The national public library survey that follows this letter is managed by the Information Policy & Access Center at the University of Maryland. Please call or e-mail the Information Policy & Access Center at (301) 405-9445 or <ipac.umd@gmail.com> with any questions you might have regarding the survey.

Kind Regards,

Keith Fiels

Executive Director

2011 National Survey of Public Library Funding and Technology Access

The American Library Association (ALA) and the Information Policy & Access Center in the College of Information Studies at the University of Maryland, with support from the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, are surveying a national sample of public libraries regarding their Internet connectivity, computing resources, and technology funding. Dr. John Carlo Bertot, co-director of the Information Policy & Access Center at the University of Maryland, manages the survey. You may access the survey at http://www.plinternetsurvey.org.

The survey Web site provides specific instructions for completing the Web survey. The survey contains questions about specific library system branches, as well as system-wide questions. We realize that public libraries in each state are organized differently and that the term "system" can mean something different from state to state. By system we mean the central authority for the library – that is, the entity that makes budget decisions, applies for E-rate, and makes other management decisions. We do not use the term "system" to mean regional cooperatives or other forms of federated libraries. If your library system has branches, you may be asked to complete questions regarding some of your branches prior to answering questions about your entire system. By branch, we mean a building that is open to the public and provides services to the community (e.g., lends books, offers public access to the Internet and computers, other). Your library and the branches selected to participate (if applicable) were selected randomly. If you wish to complete the survey for the additional branches in your system (again, if applicable), you will be given the opportunity to do so. IMPORTANT: To facilitate completion of the Web-based survey, the branch and system questions are presented separately. PLEASE COMPLETE BOTH PARTS OF THE SURVEY. A glossary of key terms is available beginning on page 18 and on the survey Web site.

Complete the survey, and enter to win an Amazon Kindle

To participate in the 2011 survey, please go to http://www.plinternetsurvey.org and follow the "Take the Survey" button. You will need to enter your library's survey ID number (located on the back of the postcard form sent to your library). The survey ID number has a total of two letters followed by four numbers, and is your FSCS library number as assigned by the state library. If you cannot remember and/or locate your library's survey ID number, the survey Web site provides a link to locate your library ID by state and city. If you prefer, you may complete this print version of the survey and mail/fax your responses back (the contact information is located at the end of they survey).

The survey is not timed. You may complete part of it, save your answers, and return to it at a later time. You may also answer part of the survey and have other members of your library staff answer other parts, if appropriate. Please be sure to complete the survey by NOVEMBER 11, 2011. Once completed, you will be able to print or save the answers you provided and keep a copy for your own records.

If you have any questions or issues regarding the survey, please call (301) 405-9445 or e-mail ipac.umd@gmail.com.
